

Unified Patient Messaging

Communicate holistically with today's digitally-focused patients

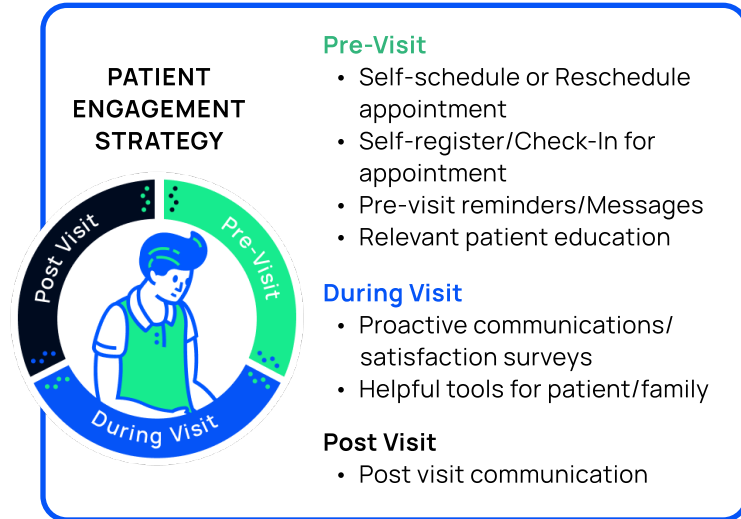

From retail to workplace environments, digital engagement is now the dominant form of communication. Health care is no different.

Patients want constant, two-way communication about:

- Upcoming and past visits
- Quality of care
- Condition & diagnosis education

Clinicians and doctors want to eliminate administrative burden through:

- Automated tasks
- Centralized communication
- Empowering tools

Unified Patient Messaging (UPM) brings your patient engagement strategy to life.

Communicate with patients on a variety of levels, from broad outreach to personalized messaging. Tailor your touchpoints and offer multiple ways of staying connected through text, email, phone and in-app. The result: A happier, healthier and more informed patient community.
